MRS. ANNIE BRADLEY, who murdered Senator ARTHUR BROWN at Washington City in the Raleigh hotel December 8th, 1906, and who was acquitted by a lachrymose jury, is now reaping the whirlwind. She is penniless in Salt Lake City and has appealed to her friends for aid. She lives in a little hut on the outskirts of the city with her four children, two by her former husband and two that she claims are the sons of BROWN. Truly, the way of the transgressor is hard.

THE original Taft man is beginning to appear. There is going to be quite a crop of the genus.

Get busy, Mr. McKNIGHT, and do something. We're helping pay your per diem.

CUTTING out the tobacco crop in Kentucky this year may prove a good thing after all, and may induce many people to cut out the habit of chewing and smoking altogether. Tobacco is classed as a luxury and we are quite sure the women would welcome with delight the proposition. The sudden elimination of 280,000,000 pounds of the best tobacco grown on earth would naturally produce a vacuum somewhere. The men have got to chew something, even if they have to chew the rag. Why not cut out the gum chewing also? Horrors! Suppose a "tobacco war" should break out between the women and the chewing gum trust?

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from two drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. This is Leap Year, but the boys say that the Maysville girls have evidently forgotten all about it, at least, they have so far failed in taking advantage of their prerogative, inasmuch as they have neglected giving a dance as they should have done sometime ago. The boys are waiting patiently, however, hoping every day that they will mend matters soon by giving a swell hop.

Mr. J. G. Wadsworth has returned from Clifton Forge, Va., and brings the gratifying information that his brother, Hon. W. H. Wadsworth, underwent a successful surgical operation at that place Tuesday. He is reported to have passed through the trying ordeal and rallied from its weakening effect in a manner satisfactory to his attending surgeons and physicians. When Mr. Wadsworth left for home his brother was doing nicely and as well as could be expected.

POINT ON SECOND MARRIAGES.

Sexes Differ When It Comes to Choice of Future Mate.

"There's a curious thing," said a minister, "that I've noticed about second marriages. It is this: Widowers rarely marry women whom they knew either before or during their first period of married life, while with widows the case, as a rule, is just reversed.

"How do I explain this? Well, I don't; I just mention the fact. But I suppose my guess is as good as another's. Of course, to begin with, a man has more freedom of choice; that is, his activities are apt to give him a larger circle of acquaintances than a woman.

"A woman, if her first marriage has been happy, longs for a continuation of that happiness; if it has not been wholly so, she is still searching for a satisfaction of ideals. She is more likely to regard with favor a suitor whom she has known for some time than a recent acquaintance. Women, you remember, are naturally more conservative than men, and a woman is much more disposed to be careful about a second marriage than a first.

"Of course, these are only theories and I'm indulging in. But the fact regarding the tendencies in second marriages are as I have stated. And one can confirm them by running over the second marriages of his or her friends."

JUST WANTED TO SEE MONEY.

And the Little Old Lady Had Her Confidence Restored.

She was a little old lady, so little and so old that with considerable friends she would never, never have been allowed alone in the hurried living on the busy streets. She was such an old little lady that she had only just learned that there had been trouble in the banks, and she had made such haste as she could to be sure that her money—all the money she had saved—was safe.

"Have you got my money?" she asked tremulously when she finally reached the teller's window.

"How much did you have?" asked the teller kindly. No one could help being kind to such a little old lady.

"Twenty-five dollars," she answered. "Two tens and a five. I didn't wish to take it out," she continued apologetically, "but I should feel better if you could just let me see it."

So they showed her carefully "tens and a five." Her faded face brightened, and with a grateful "Thank you," she left, every line of her bent little figure showing happy contentment and confidence, for she had seen her money.

The American in Canada.

The American farmer is a practical man; there is no cleverer-headed citizen in the world, and moreover he is frankly honest. When he finds in Canada a system of jurisprudence under which law is everywhere respected, when he learns that Canada has never seen a lynching, that Canadian history tells of no Indian wars, he is very willing to acknowledge that there is little here he would wish to change. The fact is that in his general views and attitude toward life no one is more like a Canadian than an American. The fact that they are subjected to similar environment and to the same broad sweeping continental forces readily explains how by merely crossing north or south an imaginary boundary line Canadian and American alike pass from one citizenship to another with far less friction than an Englishman can be transplanted to either American or Canadian soil.—Atlantic Monthly.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Tuesday's Charleston, W. Va., Gazette.

The social event of the mid winter season was the luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. Herbert Frankenberg at the Ruffner hotel, in honor of her guest, Mrs. Marcus Davis, of Maysville, Ky. Covers were laid for twenty-five guests in the pretty grill room of the Ruffner where the table was decorated with narcissus and palms. After an eight course luncheon the guests played bridge. Each of the out-of-town guests, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Marcus and Mrs. Rosenfelt, received a beautiful bouquet of narcissus. Mrs. Sol May was awarded the head prize, a Venetian gold leaf bowl.

COOPER MET USUAL SUCCESS IN PITTSBURG

Received Thanks from Hundreds While in the Smoky City.

The following article, taken from the Pittsburgh Press, describes the results of L. T. Cooper's visit to that city, and the effect of his new preparation as told by people who had become convinced of the soundness of Cooper's theories with regard to the human stomach.

Cooper believes that the human stomach in civilized races has become greatly weakened. He claims that most ill health of the present generation is due to this fact. The article is as follows:

"L. T. Cooper is meeting with the same astonishing success in Pittsburgh as in other cities. For the past few days many thousands of Pittsburgh people have called at his headquarters to talk with him.

"Cooper's prophecy, made upon his arrival, to the effect that before he left Pittsburgh thousands would realize that his theory is correct and would come and thank him for what his medicine had done, is rapidly being borne out. On Monday an astonishing number of people called to express their gratitude to Mr. Cooper. Judging from what some of these people had to say to a Press reporter, when interviewed, Cooper's claim that the human stomach is degenerate is distinctly verified. "One of the most unusual statements was made by Mr. C. W. Woods, of 103 South Highland Street. He said: 'For four years my wife was in very poor health. She was weak and thin, with a hectic flush and cough. Physicians said she had consumption, and I was inclined to believe them. It certainly looked as though her days were numbered, and there appeared to be very little ground for hope.

"Shortly after Mr. Cooper came to Pittsburgh I began to hear of wonderful results that had been obtained by persons who had tried his medicine, so I got some for my wife. She had taken it only two days when she was relieved of a tapeworm 42 feet long. She began to improve immediately—has gained seven pounds since she began taking the medicine. She feels splendid and looks very much better. If any one doubts this statement I would be pleased to have them call at my house and verify it."

The Cooper remedies are becoming justly famous. We sell them.—T. J. Chenoweth.
